having been negatived for the present, and being for some time to come at all events dead letter, it behoves us to consider whether there are not some matters of mutua interest to ourselves and our neighbors o British Columbia, which without any union might be so arranged as to afford tha strength in individual departments, which the advocates of union thought that it would supply. The merchants of Victoria one and all carry on more or less business with British Columbia, and debts and credits are con stantly accruing between the inhabitants of the two colonies, whilst the jurisdiction of their two Courts is as distinct as it is possible to make it. Each colony at present has its own Chief Justice, who is the sole Judge in the Supreme Court and from him there is no appeal within either colony. This alone is a sufficient plea for some sor of amalgamation of the law courts of Vic toria and British Columbia, but the intimate mercantile communication existing is a still supplies goods to any one residing in New Westminster and the purchaser or consignee refuses or neglects to pay for those goods, or if there is any dispute about them which necessitates recourse to legal measures, the vendor is compelled either to issue his writin the Supreme Court of British Columbia, and if the case come to trial, he has to attend at New Westminster with his witnesses to prove his case, or bide his time and watch his opportunity, until his debtor comes into this colony and seeks to leave it again, when he arrests him on a writ of ne exeat regno, and compels him to give bail to try the case n this colony. Now this course, inconvenient a ike to buyer and seller, to debtor and creditor, might be avoided by the simple means of giving a concurrent jurisdiction in FRIDAY, Nov. 13th, all civil proceedings in the two colonies, allowing actions commenced in either, at the option of the porties, to be tried at New Westminster or Victoria, and allowing all preceedings after the commencement of the action to run concurrently in the two colonies. We should then be able to have a Court of Appeal com posed of the Supreme Judges of the two colonies, such Courts to be held alternately at Victoria and New Westminster; to effect this arrangement an amelgamation of our laws and, practice rules so far as affects general principles, would be necessary; but we presume little alteration would be required. The same rules as to practice were maintained. One additional Judge with jurisdiction i both colonies would be amply sufficient for some years to come, and in the meantime until such addition to the bench should be made, it would be a great convenience to our friends at New Westminster to be within six hours of a Judge having jurisdiction in their Supreme Court at seasons when their Chief Justice is 'necessarily absent on circuit; w think that a motion for an address to the Home Government, to amalgamate our Courts of Law, could hardly fail to meet with practice of both Courts wants a thorough remodelling, and as many members of the legal profession practice in both colonies, it would be a manifest convenence to them if the

the cordial support of all sides of the House if some independent member would take it A question of the utmost importance is to be brought before the House of Assembly this day, one in which the public have the greatest possible interest, an interest which, at this particular season, is more vividly felt than at times when the assizes are not sitting ; one, in fact, in which every inhabitant of Victoria who is liable to serve on juries, every suitor, every witness in a cause, the whole legal profession, and we believe we may say every other profession and calling in Victoria is directly or indirectly concerned we allude to the fitting up of a separate building for a Court House. Now we have frequently pointed out the importance of their being a separate building for the Supreme Court and the House of Assembly, this is so self-evident a matter that there cannot be two opinions about it; most strongly must those gentlemen who are now detained from their business by sitting as jurors on the trial of for if the Court were able to sit each day until five or six o'clock, we do not hesitate to affirm that the business of the Court would be finished in less than half the number of derogatory to the dignity of Her Majesty's Supreme Court of Law in the colony to be without a Court House. This seems at length to be acknowledged by the government, for the building near the House of Assembly has been made fit for habitation, and the House are invited to take into consideration the necessity for funds to furnish this building for a Court House, for which purpose the sum of $1,000 is proposed as a suitable vote. Now we do not wish to be classed amongst the obstructives, nor will those who have patience to wait for our reasons be inclined to blame us for opposing this proposition, as we feel it our duty to do; it is not that we object to the expenditure of that sum of money on the Supreme Court, it is not because we think it excessive for the purpose that we enter our protest against such an application of the public mouey, but it is because we think that so large a sum of money would be ill applied the proposed building, no matter how complete and finished its fittings should be. Fur rather would we see the same amount or double the sum voted to furnish the House of Assembly in a proper manner for its present empty appearance is alike comfortless and inconverient; we would therefore propose that the House of Assembly should take the new building and fit it up in a suitable manner and leave the present ill furnished abode for the Supreme Court, until a new building can be erected for its accom modation in the centre of the city, and we nrge our independent members to pause before they pass this vote for $1,000, to hesitate before they fix the locale of the Court House for another lustre in the distant regions of James' Bay. We have frequently urged the removal of the Courts, and we believe that we are now likely to see this important end accomplished if our representatives will fairly consider the desires of their constituents and cast their votes accordingly ; we more particularly turge the consideration of this matter upon the members for Victoria City and District; let them consider the interests of their constituents before they vote the re-establishment of the Court flouse in its present position; better far that the Court should auffer some temporary inconvenience for want of furniture and appliances than that it should be permanently placed in a situation alike inconvenient to suitors, to the profession, and to the bench. We have certainly recently urged the furnishing of the new building for a Court House, but now that the Assizes may be over before anything can be done we should prefer a temporary delay, in

Hudson's Bay Company v. David, Isaac and Charles Oppenheimer; Mr. Ring and Mr. Wood instructed by Mr. Drake for plaintiffs.
The Attorney General and Mr. McGreight, instructed by Mr. Pearkes for the defendants David and Isaac; Charles did not appear.

"Mr. Wood opened the pleadings; Mr. Ring addressed the Jury, dwelling shiefly upon the fact of a partnership existing between the defendant and five other brothers. The first witness called and examined by Mr. Ring was Mr. John Work, a chief factor of Bay Company. Knew the firm Oppenheimer & Co., have had ord by Mr. Reinhart and others to Oppenheimer & Co. Godfrey Op-thas ordered goods for that firm enheimer has ordered goods for that firm—ommenced trading with the firm in Dec. 860; Godfrev Oppenheimer has frequently nade me payments—have received payment rom Yale. The last transaction that I had with Oppenheimer & Co. was, I think, on the 7th July, to the best of my belief Godfrey Oppenheimer gave me the orders. I don't recollect if anything was said about giving counts with the same firm. The witness wa cross-examined at great length by Mr. Cary, in the course of which, Mr. Work refused in the course of which, Mr. Work refused to allow Mr. Cary to inspect his books of account. A long argument took place between the four learned counsel on this point, and His Honor at length decided that the books were to be inspected, the page adjoining that under examination being covered over with a blank sheet of paper. A letter of Mr. Drake's and several accounts and receipts were put in evidence, as well as a copy of a writ of summons and declaration issued against Lewis Moberly and Oppenheimer, as well as shipping notes and receipts for goods marked L. M. & O. Mr. Work did not recollect to whom the goods were shipped; he recollected that they were marked L. M. & O.; he would mark goods at any time as requested by the

a man named William Harris was brought up on a charge of stealing a box containing venring apparel and $60 in cash from three Gold Harbor Squaws. A medicine man belonging to the same tribe, in full regalia, his sale at the Brick Store on Fort street, oplonging to the same tribe, in full regalia, his head groaning under the ludierous paraphernalia attached to the Court costume of the craft, introduced himself to the magistrate, and was desirous of fixing the guilt at once upon the accused by means of a pretended power of clauvoyance. Mr. Bishop, however, who appeared for Harris, naturally objected to such evidence as inadmissible, and the testimony of the M. D. was accordingly dispensed with. The prisoner was remanded for two days. for two days.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS .- Last night at ten o'clock, during the heavy squall of wind and rain, a report was circulated that a vessel was lying some distance off the harbor apparently in distress, having fired a gun and sent up rockets. The report was traced to a man who had been rafting some timbers into the harbor, but we failed to gather any further particulars before going to press.

REMANDED .- William Copperman, who appeared yesterday in the Police Court, to answer a charge of being unlawfully possessed of a quantity of goods belonging to the Hudson's Bay Company, was remanded until Friday, and liberated on bail. ALLEN V. LASCELLES .- This cause, which was set down for trial yesterday, will not be heard until Monday next. Counsel for the defence have applied for a special jury, which will be considered to-day. BENEFIT .- Billy Sheppard's benefit takes place to-night; let his many friends muster strong and give him a bumper. The bill is a rich one and all may be sure of a treat.

Mr. DeCosmos said the object of this was to do away with certain doubts as to the power of the mortgagor to retain possession of goods after the execution of the grant or of goods after the execution of the gland of mortgage. The bill would provide that the possession of a bill of sale would give the mortgage the same power as if he had possession of the goods.

The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the evidence.

The foreman, in the name of the jurors, called the attention of the Coroner to the inconvenience and discomfort to which they were subjected in having to go to the Dead House in the dark and rain.

The Coroner stated that the Dead House had been placed in its present position because the City Conneil would not allow it to be within the city limits. He also said the reason he called juries generally in the evening was because he found it difficult to procure a full attendance in the day time, and juries generally preferred the former time.

"We were now close to New York; the Sth July we were not more than 50 or 60 miles from that city. About 12 m. this day (8th) we exchanged signals with an English brig. Another sail being reported, started in pursuit, and as the log cleased up saw a large steamer lying by her and had sent her boat alongside. We ran down until we saw the Yankee colours flying from her peak. "All hands" were then called to quarters. After maneuvering about hall an hour she finally ran down to us. As soon as she was finally ran down to us. As soon as she was near enough we hauled down the English near enough we hauled down the English colours (which were flying at the time), and showed to their view the "stars and bars," and at the same time gave her a broadside. Her men ran from their after pivot and south protection behind the ship's bulwarks. But the wind was in their favor, for just then the fog came down so dense that the Ericsson could not be seen, so all we could do was to wait till it cleared up. But judge of our astonishment when it did clear up to see the Yankee about five or six miles ahead of us and travelling for Sandy Hook. Now it was we felt the need of good coal. Our brave Captain Moffit offered $1,500 for 151b, of steam, but we could get but 81b, and 161b, although we used pitch and rosin. All hands were anxious to catch but 81b. and 101b., although we used pitch and rosin. All hands were anxious to catch her, for she had been sent out to catch rebel cruisers, but she caught a tartar this time. But we had the pleasure of burning two vessels under her nose, the brig N. B. Nash, from New York, and the whaling schooner Rienzi, from Providence; but the crew however had left when they saw us burn the brig. We showed the crew of the Nash the steamer Ericsson making tracks for New York. With a sad heart we left the E., and steered for Bernueda."
